Education on Online Resources and Online Scams

Online indicates activity performed while on the internet. Online has come to describe activities performed on and data available on the Internet, for example: "online identity", "online predator", "online gambling", "online shopping", "online banking", and "online learning". The resources that are accessible via the Internet and World Wide Web. In general, web pages and documents on the internet that provide useful information are known as Online Resources. Online education has become popular among working professionals and students in higher education. These categories of online learners find immense benefit in the autonomy, and flexibility, that these courses offer. With the growth in online services and internet use, there are many opportunities for criminals to commit Online scams and fraud. These are dishonest schemes that seek to take advantage of unsuspecting people to gain a benefit (such as money, or access to personal details). This seminar aims to alert, to protect, and create awareness among the people about online scams, frauds and identity thefts and to increase focus, awareness and education about online resources.
