Objectives of PPIPRP-2022

Intellectual property refers to creations of the mind: inventions; literary and artistic works; and symbols, names and images used in commerce. Industrial property and copyright are two categories of Intellectual Property. There are several reasons to protect and promote intellectual property rights and patents. First, the progress and well-being of humanity rest on its capacity to create and invent new works in the areas of technology and culture. Second, the legal protection of new creations encourages the commitment of additional resources for further innovation. Third, the promotion and protection of intellectual property spurs economic growth, creates new jobs and industries, and enhances the quality and enjoyment of life. An efficient and equitable intellectual property system can help all countries to realize intellectual property's potential as a catalyst for economic development and social and cultural well-being. The intellectual property system helps strike a balance between the interests of innovators and the public interest, providing an environment in which creativity and invention can flourish, for the benefit of all. Patents provide incentives to individuals by recognizing their creativity and offering the possibility of material reward for their marketable inventions. These incentives encourage innovation, which in turn enhances the quality of human life. Objectives of PPIPRP are to bring out the awareness and relevance of this approach and to bring out the exposure of benefit of getting patents and intellectual property rights.
